SHIRODHARA

deep relaxation & regeneration of the nervous system – 75 min

Relaxing treatment that includes a relaxing massage while slowly pouring medicinal oil on the forehead in a thin, continuous stream.

The warm oil flows in a thin stream over the forehead and hair, focusing on the area between the eyebrows, and collects in a container under the head.

The gentle pressure of the oil flowing down the forehead, head and hair creates a vibration that enables the body, thoughts and nervous system to experience a deep state of rest, most similar to that achieved through meditation. The stream creates friction and electrical impulses that are transmitted to the brain, stimulating the production of dopamine, serotonin and endorphins. It also affects the glands with internal hormone secretion and balances the entire hormonal system.
